

GENERAL QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q: Who is the subscriber?

A: The subscriber is the individual enrolled through his/her employer, also referred to as the enrolled employee or primary insured. Dependents include the subscriber's spouse or children.

Q: Who is the member?

A: Members are individuals covered under our vision plan. Members include the subscriber (also referred to as the individual enrolled through his/her employer) as well as any enrolled dependents.

Q: Do I need an identification card?

A: We make it easy to access your benefits. We offer a paperless system, so there are no identification cards to track. When making your appointment, simply give the provider the subscriber's unique identification number, along with the patient's name and date of birth, and identify the patient as a vision plan member. The provider will verify the patient's eligibility and coverage with us prior to the scheduled appointment.

Q: What is my unique subscriber identification number?

A: The number assigned to the subscriber or enrolled employee during open enrollment. The unique identification number is typically either the subscriber's Social Security number or employee identification number.

Q: How often should I have my eyes examined?

A: You and your eye care provider should determine the eye exam schedule that best meets your eye care needs. The American Optometric Association recommends that adults age 19 to 40 with normal vision receive eye exams every two to three years, adults 41 to 60 receive eye exams every two years, and adults 61 and older receive annual eye exams. People with vision problems, including those who wear prescriptions, should visit their eye care professional at least annually.

Q: When should my child have his/her first eye exam?

A: You and your eye care provider should determine the eye exam schedule that best meets your child's eye care needs. The American Optometric Association recommends that infants receive their first eye exam before six months of age, then again at age three, as well as before the child begins first grade. Regular eye exams should be conducted every other year thereafter.

Q: What is the difference between a routine eye exam and a contact lens exam?

A: Routine eye exams are designed to detect vision problems and are an important preventive measure for maintaining your overall health and wellness. In fact, eye exams can be used to spot symptoms of diseases and conditions like diabetes, high cholesterol, hypertension, cataracts, multiple sclerosis, brain tumors, lupus, AIDS, osteoporosis, rheumatoid arthritis, and Graves' disease. Q: How do I submit a claim?

A: We partner with providers in the network to offer members easy access to quality care. If you visit a network provider, there are no claim forms to fill out or file. When making an appointment, identify yourself as a vision plan member.

If you visit a provider outside of our network, consult your benefits brochure or you may log onto our website at www.myuhcvision.com and select the My Benefits section of this Web site to determine if your program provides an out-of-network reimbursement benefit. If your plan has an out-of-network benefit, you will pay the provider in full at the time of service. Then simply mail or fax your receipts to us, requesting reimbursement. We will process your claim and reimburse you up to the maximum allowances of your out-of-network schedule. For more specific information on your plan allowances, you may log onto our website at www.myuhcvision.com and select the My Benefits section of this Web site.
